Using the Code Attachments

These code attachments serve two main purposes:

- You can compare your code to mine to find + fix errors in your code
- You can run my code to see what we build / how it should behave

Running my Code

If you want to run my attached code, you need to follow these steps:

1. Run `npm install` in the extracted project folder to install all required dependencies => This will create a `node_modules` folder which is missing otherwise (it's not in the attachment because that would bloat the ZIP file)
2. Run `npm run serve` to bring up the development server, view the app at `localhost:8080` (or whichever port is shown in your terminal)
